

Olga Gize Carlisle, above left, and Ann Mosher and Pam Rosmann, below left, were among those who enjoyed Mrs. Goodspeed's program.

At the end of the program, the 1914 Japanese kimono worn by Mrs. Goodspeed as Marcet, which was a gift from Jane Addams to her step-mother Anna Haldeman Addams, was donated to the museum by Paul Fry, left, on behalf of himself and his sister Jean Joyce, owners for many years.

Lois Macum and Karl Erickson enjoyed the post program refreshments.

Cedarville's Jane Goodspeed entertained a spellbound audience on September 23 when she transformed herself into Marcet Haldeman-Julius, author, actress, publisher, wife, mother, bank officer and niece of Jane Addams. Dressed as Marcet in early twentieth century clothes and using photos and artifacts, Mrs. Goodspeed spun the 1916 faery tale set along Cedar Creek that was written by Marcet. Mrs. Goodspeed's performance marked the end of the historical society's 2008 evening programs.
